Art Portfolio Bootcamp: Big Ideas and Building a Thoughtful Art Portfolio (Teen Summer Intensive)

Ages 14 to 18

Instructor: Dan Gerdeman

Monday – Wednesday, June 10 – June 12

9:00am – 12:00pm

Students will spend the week focusing on art making with big ideas and exploring media to illustrate their vision. Part of the process will regard strategically composing those ideas with consideration to project planning—ranging materials used include watercolor and gouache. Activities will revolve around understanding big ideas, action research, team projects and beginning the first piece in a thematic art portfolio.

FEE: $100

Foundations of Drawing (Teen Summer Intensive)

Ages 14 to 18

Instructor: Angela Gage

Monday – Wednesday, June 10 – June 12

1:00pm – 4:00pm

Whether you're just starting out drawing or working up to your first college studio course, this camp is an excellent way for teens to focus in on the foundational building blocks of drawing. You will focus on the basics of drawing, building technical skills, and learning how to see yourself as an artist. You will gain confidence working with various tools including pencil, charcoal, and ink while learning how to draw from still life, photographs, and nature/buildings en plein air! All supplies are provided for this intensive camp.

FEE: $125

The Fundamentals of Becoming a Personal Stylist (Teen Summer Intensive)

Ages 15 to 18

Instructor: Courtney Stone Smith

Monday – Wednesday, June 10 – June 12

at the MAC; Thursday June 13th at Evolverie

Boutique in Old Worthington

4:00pm-5:00pm

Are you a teen that's interested in pursuing a career in fashion? If so, starting in the world of personal styling could be your first step towards success. Author and Professional Personal Stylist, Courtney Stone Smith believes that personal styling is the best place to begin. In her class, students will not only learn about interpersonal skills, but also gain insights into what it takes to become a professional stylist in the fashion industry. Whether you wish to work in editorial styling or work independently with everyday people it all begins with the fundamentals taught in this class. Courtney will guide students in creating impactful style boards, teach them how to effectively communicate with people, assign style tasks to complete, and ultimately provide them with a better understanding of what it truly takes to make it in this competitive field. So, if you're a teenager that has been told that you have an eye for style, are interested in personal styling and looking to excel in the fashion industry, this introductory class is just for you.
